

Bigmoish's path to tahara

Posted by Bigmoish - 29 Jul 2014 23:01

I just posted my story in the "introduce yourself" forum. It feels like a weight off my shoulders already, but I hope I can really do this.

I already woke up this morning with the YH in my head, but I managed to brush it off and go

I think it is very normal for sick person to feel sick, I guess we can only accept that as a fact and move on. Stop fighting it.
daven.

Of course it isn't that easy, but to accept it is one of the 12 steps. It is a good step.

I've been encouraged to resume my posting activities.

So... here goes nothin.

Been a rough time these last few days with yom tov and all. Between spending time with family (v'hameivin yovin) and no access to GYE buddies, my lust was acting up big time.

And continues to do so.

Did have an enjoyable melava malka, though. (Although, can a get together on motzoei shabbos be called a melava malka if there's no food? M'stoma divrei torah can make it a chalois shem MM too.)

That's all for now. Subscribe in order not to miss any whining.

Moish

It's my thread and I'll whine/wine/pout if I want to.

(Not sure if you would if it happened to you, though.)

I was a little deceptive there. I used Hebrew instead of Yiddish. The Yiddish translation is a lot closer.

I haven't really been feeling that Truckin' motivation lately. Been lusting a bunch.

Was thinking about calling someone this morning, but I chickened out. The excuses I gave myself were:

- a) Too early in the morning (Americans)
- b) Long distance call (Canadians)
- c) Still the middle of 1st seder (Israelis - 6 hour dif. this week)

I survived, but I'm stuck in this place. Gotta figure out how to get off the exercise wheel...
