Shalom to all

i got something. yesterday i was walking to optician and there was usual filth on the way. it was very hard not to look. i was thinking about playing game. i am among the aliens (immodest women are aliens) and if i look at them while they passing and they see me they will kill me. so just to be on the save side i can't look at all because i might die. i succeeded on my way there and back and was thinking that a great game. thank BOSS. anything but anything for Kedusha

I would ask: If you extend this "Game" throughout your life to mantain Kedusha, can't you spend your whole life "trying not to get killed"? Maybe it's better to leave the battlefield through working on rewiring the thinking and/ or underlying elements that fuel the struggle? Hatzlacha!

of course i agree with you. it's just temporary solution. unfortunately after over 20 years of trying to rewire etc and failing most of the times i try to do anything to stop looking.
